SPRING FEATURE

RENEE WHITE

" As we begin 2023, it is a fresh start for new goals...new relationships...new dreams. Relay, as an organization, is here to help students and families make each of these a reality. We are here to help students set and reach goals, whether to attend college debt free or get accepted to college, to help families build relationships with financial advisors, community leaders, and educational connections to improve their position for the future and to see dreams become achievable with information and support.

I have been a part of the Relay organization for 4 years as a participant, board member, and parent. I have seen firsthand the impact a grassroots organization can do in the community. My son has seen success in getting into a college that is best for him with scholarships to help him stay there. I have learned a lot that I am excited to share with people I talk to every day. The great thing about an organization like Relay is that what is imparted to us is transferable to others. That is how the reach expands exponentially. It has been great to watch students and families impacted by community activities and participate as ambassadors to grow and develop.
